

A Divine Human

By Reniyah Wolf, 2005

Revised 2011

I wrote the below, in 2005, for the Love and Empowerment website. I based it on my own evolution; the changes that I had undergone over about 7 years of my life. I was just as much of a poor, sniveling, depressed, tormented human as anyone else. My ability to converse with angels and others from beyond this plane did not seem to enhance my human life one bit. To the contrary, my human life seemed to be going more and more into the proverbial hell after I began conversing with them in 1993. In 1997, though, I experienced a divine revelation about the meaning of “love is the absence of fear.” This understanding gave me a working method to dig myself out of hell and become a divine human.

I received a bit of criticism for A Divine Human..... “Impossible and unrealistic,” people said. “We need tools. We can’t do this on our own.” I did it, with very little in the way of “tools” or outside assistance. I am really nobody special. If I did it, so can others, given the desire, will and intent to do so. The power, and all we need, lies within. I reviewed A Divine Human..... in late 2010 and found very little I would change now. To become a divine human is not only possible but very important now in our times, for the future of humanity. There must be people who will teach humanity not to repeat the ways of its past. It is difficult to teach what has not been learned in the first place.

The tool, the technique, the method, lies in the statement “love is the absence of fear.” It is simple, too simple for most human minds to grasp. We want to complicate things, add too them, interpret them and make them much more confusing and complex than they need to be. The one who applies this statement, “love is the absence of fear,” actively in day-to-day-life will become a divine human, as described below. There is nothing impossible about it. This is the next level of our evolution – what we have all been working toward.

A Divine Human.....

Is fully aware that one IS Spirit expressing self in human form and not feel separate from any part of Creation;

Does not fear change and knows that every experience is an opportunity to recreate one's own Divine Presence in human form;

Has no feelings of low self-worth or self-esteem; Does not compare self with others and does not feel less than or greater than any other human;

Honors the needs and desires of self as well as those of others; knows that one cannot love others without first loving self;

Knows that Truth is not held by anyone or anything outside of self, and that the only Truth is found within;

Cannot be untrue to self; Does not compromise one's own reality and viewpoints in favor of those of others;

Lives life on the basis of "I choose," rather than "I am afraid of....." Actions are consistent with words;

Cannot be untrue to others; Does not desire manipulate or control people or events, or be dishonest, even in small ways; Lives in the highest integrity at all times;

Has the wisdom to know when to speak and when to keep silent, when to act and when to do nothing, but will not change to please others;

Knows that what benefits the one must benefit the All in order for Divine Order to be maintained; Gives and receives in a balanced flow;

Trusts self, and consequently trusts others; Knows that there are no mistakes, no failure, only choices;

Is in tune with the higher consciousness which is orchestrating the Divine Flow of our human experience and evolution;

Has no feelings of guilt, blame, shame or regret;

Has no desire to prove self right and another wrong; Understands the nature of the gift of free will;

Does not criticize and judge others directly or indirectly;. Does not care to listen to criticism and gossip; Does not try to stir up drama and conflict amongst others;

Does not complain and does not confuse another's actions with another's being;

Operates in Now time and the chosen experience of the moment; Does not worry or have regrets;

Is fully capable of experiencing the entire range of human emotion, but is able to take power over the emotions in any experience;

Is able to experience and explore the lower emotions without getting stuck in them; Does not experience the random and uncontrolled emotional response of most humans;

Makes life decisions and choices based on the intelligence of the heart rather than logic and linear thinking, or the fear-based survival instincts of the emotional body;

Understands that Love is the absence of fear and is incapable of loving any part of creation more or less than any other part;

Chooses relationships with others which enhance the life experience and releases those which do not;

Knows that it is not possible to hurt another, or be hurt unless it is agreed upon at some level of consciousness;

Does not feel threatened by the thoughts-words-deeds of any other but is alert and aware of one's immediate environment and the potential choices presented;

Can move beyond feelings of grief over separation, tragedy or death, because one knows that we all are eternally connected in the One;

Does not experience the usual cycle of fortune and misfortune in human life, because one is free of karma and operates at a frequency level above duality;

Seldom experiences illness or injury, because the body is free from the influence of lower emotional thoughts;

Can transmute lower energies of others without being affected by them;

Does not judge or condemn the events of the world, but actively works for change through self-transformation and service to humanity;

Is able to act in true compassion at all times; Has no personal agenda or motivations for assisting others; Chooses to do so or not based on the intelligence of the heart;

Has no interest in putting self above others, controlling the beliefs or actions of others or taking the personal power of others; Does not have anything to prove to others;

Honors the boundaries set by others; Respects the free will and boundaries of others at all times and the laws of the land in which one lives;

Wakes up each day with a sense of awe and wonder about what may unfold; Has no expectations but takes full responsibility as a co-creator;

Is an extremely powerful catalyst for transmutation upon Earth; emanates the higher frequencies of Love, Light and Joy continuously into the planetary consciousness.
