

The Cosmic Laws

As given to Reniyah by Metatron in 2009

- 1) Created reality exists in waves of sound vibration, or “words.” Each part of creation, animate or inanimate, individuated consciousness or elemental/angelic consciousness, is known, or “named” by its unique vibrational resonance.
- 2) All creation began, and is sourced in love (the absence of fear) and grace (the absence of resistance). The law of grace is: Choose as you will, and as you desire, with love for the rest of creation.
- 3) In this universe, individuated consciousness has full free will and co-creative power to order its experience through the elemental and angelic intelligences which maintain the form and continuity of creation, according to its own vibrational resonance.
- 4) Individuated consciousness extends itself downward through successively slower frequency bands to participate in the material experience. Within the parameters of the form and continuity of the chosen experiential construct, individuated consciousness is free to create any manner of experience through thought + emotion (desire or resistance.)
- 5) The co-creative power of individuated consciousness is such that whatever the mind creates a mental picture of and propels outward with the thrust of emotions will be given. If consciousness is vibrating at a similar level to the object of desire or resistance (the law of attraction). If there is no vibrational match between the individual consciousness and the object of the desire, it cannot be given. All individuated consciousness attracts experience by its vibrational resonance. The time of the manifestation will vary according to the density of the experiential construct and the awareness level of the individuated consciousness.
- 6) The presence of resistance, or fear, lowers the vibration and invokes the law of karma. The law of karma is: Whatever one judges for good or evil, one is then bound to experience both the good and the evil of the judgment one has created or agreed to. One transcends the law of karma and invokes the original law of grace when one ceases to judge.
- 7) Each individuated consciousness is responsible for its own co-creations and the circumstances in which it finds itself. There are ultimately no victims and no perpetrators. There are no random occurrences. Co-creation can occur consciously or subconsciously and by commission or omission.

- 8) Each individuated consciousness co-creates its own experience according to awareness, desire for evolution and existing karma. Those individuated consciousnesses which are of similar vibrational resonance will be drawn together as collectives, to share experiences which mirror the collective level of their vibrational resonance. Collectives are also responsible for their co-creations and their own evolution or devolution.
- 9) The journey from Oneness into separateness has but one purpose; to travel a circle of experience, through the light and through the darkness, which ultimately leads to a return to the Oneness. The purpose is in the journey of experience and the knowledge and wisdom attained from it, and this is the great cosmic dance.
